

“Rivers of Chocolate” Film Premier

In 2010 Steve Burgess and Nicky Spinks went to Colombia in search of the “Lost Raspadura Canal” and found it!

In 2011 Steve, Nicky and Andrew Heading took two inflatable canoes to Colombia to try and retrace the voyage along 700km of Colombian rivers that the cacao beans would have taken from the Atlantic to the Pacific crossing the watershed by using the still intact, Raspadura Canal. This is the film of that adventure!
